

IMGC 2016 CFP “Exploring the Premodern World”

Deadline for submission: November 15, 2015

The Indiana Medieval Graduate Consortium (IMGC) welcomes submissions for its annual symposium to be held at Purdue University March 4-5, 2016. The goal of the symposium is to promote serious scholarly investigation of the classical, medieval, and early modern worlds. We encourage proposals approaching the premodern world from a diverse set of methodologies and disciplines; presentations might engage literature, history, philosophy, religious studies, linguistics, manuscript studies, art history, music studies, and so on.

The committee encourages scholarship that challenges periodization and hopes to promote cross-curricular conversation among participants; however, all submissions should be geared toward scholarly investigation of the thinking, cultures, and works of the classical, medieval, and/or early modern worlds.

Proposals for 20 minute individual papers should be approximately 250 words long and should include the presenter’s contact information and A/V requirements. Please submit your abstracts and any questions you may have about the symposium to IMGC2016@gmail.com.

Keynote: Richard Firth Green, Title TBA

Conference Workshops: ($10, max. 20 participants)*

-Scholarly Publishing, led by Dorsey Armstrong

-Paleography, led by Michael Johnston

* Conference Workshop registration details to follow

Facebook: IMGC 2016 Annual Conference

Twitter: IMGC_2016

