

2010 Thomas Ohlgren Award for Best Graduate Student Essay

Congratulations to Jason Lotz (Ph.D. student in Comparative Literature) for winning the 2010 Ohlgren Award for his essay, "A Mind of Winter: A Comparative Approach to Wisdom in The Wanderer." As the winner, Jason receives funding for travel to, and free registration at, the 2011 International Medieval Congress at Western Michigan University, where he will present his paper at one of the Congress's general sessions. Jason serves as TA for Professor Shaun Hughes's MARS course, "The Vikings" (MARS 22000) in Fall 2010.
