

FULL STEAM AHEAD

Young Audiences 2011 National Conference
Indianapolis, Indiana

BE A PART OF SOMETHING POWERFUL

SCIENCE. TECHNOLOGY. ENGINEERING. ART. MATH.

You are invited to attend the 2011 Young Audiences National Conference community luncheon.

April 29, JW Marriott

“Full STEAM Ahead” refers to adding the Arts to the STEM initiative (Science, Technology, Engineering, and Math). Artful thinking bridges learning in the arts with learning in STEM, thereby purposely transforming STEM to STEAM. This concept of STEAM leads to a meaningful, comprehensive and effective education.

Panel Discussion: 10:50am - 11:50am

Facilitator: David Hoppe, Contributing Editor, NUVO Newsweekly

Panelists: Fabian Winkler, Assistant Professor of Visual and Performing Arts Electronic and Time-Based Art Program, Purdue University; Andrew Borme, Motorsports Engineering Faculty, Purdue School of Engineering and Technology at IUPUI; Kristian Andersen, IT entrepreneur, President and CEO, Kristian Anderson and Associates followed by

Community Luncheon: 12:00pm - 1:30pm

Celebrate Young Audiences Indiana's 50th Anniversary and hear keynote speaker Jack Lew, Vice President & Dean of Visual Communication at Laguna College of Art and Design, discuss “Video Games and Other E-Learning Platforms.”

Together we can transform STEM to STEAM and paint a brighter future for our children.

Luncheon Pricing: $60.00 per person     $600 table of 10

Patron Table sponsor: $1,000

Please contact Mallory Sheets, 317-925-4043 ext. 120, or msheets@yaindy.org if you would like to purchase a ticket, reserve a table, learn more about corporate sponsorships, or donate a gift to Young Audiences Arts for Learning Indiana if you are unable to attend the luncheon.

Young
Audiences
Arts for Learning

Indiana