

Interested in developing your abilities as a global citizen to recognize, respect, and speak with confidence about religion?

REL200: Introduction to the Study of Religion

Fall 2025, TR 10:30-11:45, SCHM 308, Dr. Ashley Purpura (apurpur@purdue.edu)

This course offers an introduction to the interdisciplinary, multicultural, and academic study of religion where you are invited to reflect on religion as a cultural phenomenon. All are welcome!

Course Features:

- Learn about diverse religious expressions
- Participate in fun interactive class activities
- Discuss religious traditions of your choice
- Analyze religion in-person, virtually, and through material sources
- Better understand religion in the news, people's lives, history, and cultures (local and global)!