Paisley Currah

Freeze Frames: The Carceral State, Trans Prisoners, and Neoliberal Penalty

February 8, 2016

HEAV G4, 4-5:30 pm

Dr. Currah works in the intersections of gender and sexuality studies, law and policy, social and political theory, LGBT and transgender studies. He specializes in biopolitics, contemporary political theory, policy studies, transgender studies, and gender and the state. Currah is a founding editor, with Susan Stryker, of TSQ: Transgender Studies Quarterly, a new journal from Duke University Press, co-editor, with Monica J. Casper, of Corpus: An Interdisciplinary Reader on Bodies and Knowledge (Palgrave, 2011) and Transgender Rights (Minnesota, 2006).