PROPOSED CURRICULUM CHANGES

The following curriculum changes were approved by the Liberal Arts Curriculum Committee at their meeting Wednesday, on October 7, 2015.

New and Revised Courses

CDIS 23900  Introduction to Disability Studies. New course. Cr. 3. Course description: Introduces students to the principles of and debates within disability studies. Topics explored include ideas of normalcy; the social model of disability; history of eugenics and its current manifestations; issues of access; cultural representations of disabled people.

CLCS 23800  The Tragic Vision. Course revision: Change course contact hours to three hour lecture.

DANC 13000  Fundamental Principles of Dance Technique. Course revision: Change title to Introduction to Modern Dance.

HIST 38505  Media, Politics, and Popular Culture in the 20th Century United States. New Course. Cr. 3. Course description: This class examines the relationship of media, politics, and popular culture over the course of the twentieth century in American history. Students trace how new media shaped political institutions and practices and afforded opportunities for political change.

HIST 41000  History of the American Presidency. New course. Cr. 3. Course description: Using a historical perspective, examines the shifting role of the presidency in the American imagination and the cultural, social, and economic changes that have wrought political developments in public functions and expectations of the modern presidency.

PHIL 22300  Fate and Free Will. New course. Cr. 3. Course description: This course encourages critical reflection on the nature and possibility of human freedom in a world like ours that appears to be determined by unchanging causal and physical laws. Topics include the compatibility of free will and determinism, the possibility of moral responsibility without free will, and the incentives (if any) for future planning if our future fate is already sealed.

PROPOSED CURRICULUM CHANGES

The following curriculum changes were approved by the Liberal Arts Curriculum Committee at their meeting on Wednesday January 13, 2016.

New and Revised Courses

ENGL 39200 Young Adult Literature. New Course. Cr. 3. Course description: This course examines the construct of Young Adult literature as a genre crafted specifically for adolescents. Using both classic and contemporary novels, as well as relevant theoretical and research texts, this course explores how YA literature is defined, what it offers to adolescent readers, and how it is situated in the literary landscape.

HIST 41300 Europe in the Age of Empires. Course Revision. Change course title to Modern European Imperialism: Repression and Resistance and change course description to: This course examines this expansion, transformation, and collapse of 19th and 20th century European empires, focusing on colonial encounters and relationships. Students should come to the course familiar with major developments, events, and themes in modern Europe and/or global history.

APPROVED CURRICULUM CHANGES

The following curriculum changes were approved by the Liberal Arts Curriculum Committee at their meeting on Thursday, February 4, 2016.

New and Revised Courses

GSLA 10100  Global Awareness. New Course. Cr. 3. Course description: This course surveys a range of global issues to develop an understanding and appreciation of the major geographical and cultural areas of the world and the issues that both unite and divide such areas and their people. This course will examine key political, economic, social, historical, and cultural patterns that define our modern world. It encourages students to raise ‘big’ questions about what processes and institutions helped constitute the modern moment as well as about the dynamic interactions between our social world and the natural one. This is a gateway course for prospective Global Studies Majors and Minors.

GSLA 30100  Theories of Global Studies. New Course. Cr. 3. Course description: The course is designed to introduce students to the major schools of thoughts in Global and International Studies. It provides students with critical tools to explore the interconnectedness of our world from multiple perspectives. The course will expose students to a variety of international scholars who have understood Global Studies to be more than ‘globalization.’ Instead, it introduces contested issues and contradictory positions concerning the meaning and significance of globalization.

GSLA 49000  Senior Interdisciplinary Capstone Project in Global Studies. New Course. Cr. 3. Course description: The Senior capstone course for Global Studies majors is designed to give students the chance to define and carry out a research project of personal interest and to allow students to integrate the interdisciplinary aspects of their entire curricula into one project. Students will incorporate their prior coursework (including foreign language training,) study abroad or internships into their final project. The capstone may be, but not limited to, a senior honors project, a multimedia project, service learning, or directed research.

RUSS 34100  Russian Literature I. Course Revision. Change course title to Russian Literature in the Nineteenth Century.

RUSS 34200  Russian Literature II. Course Revision. Change course title to Revolution, Repression, and Renewal.

RUSS 38000  Russian Culture and Civilization I. New Course. Cr. 3. Course description: this course traces the intellectual and cultural development of Russia, starting with the founding of the Kievan state and continuing to the last days of the Russian Empire. No knowledge of Russian is required.
RUSS 38100  Russian Culture and Civilization II. New Course. Cr. 3. Course description: this course traces the intellectual and cultural development of Russia from the revolutionary period to the present. No knowledge of Russian is required.

RUSS 40200  Russian Level VIII. Course Revision. Change credit from two to three.

RUSS 49700  Topics in Russian Literature. New Course. Cr. 3. Course description: this course provides in-depth study of a particular author or facet of the Russian literary tradition. Possible topics include Dostoevsky and His Age; The Art and Thought of Leo Tolstoy; Russian Romanticism: Pushkin, Gogol, Lermontov; The Russian Stage: Theater in Russia and the Soviet Union.

RUSS 49800  Topics in Russian Culture. New Course. Cr. 3. Course description: this course provides a sustained examination of some aspect of Russian culture or a topic relevant to Russian cultural studies. Topics may include Russia Confronts the East; The Caucasus: An Introduction; Popular culture in Russia.

SOC 37300  Sociology of Mental Health. New Course. Cr. 3. Course description: examines social influences and consequences of mental health and illness. Considers definitions of psychological disorders, stress, stigma, labeling, and treatments. Typically offered fall/spring.

SOC 48900  Research Internship in Sociology. New Course. Cr. 3-6. Course description: course organized around offsite internship experiences in organizations that collect or analyze data from surveys, social media, focus groups, interviews, or experiments. Work experience supplemented and put into context by readings, group meetings, written assignments, and regular communication with instructor. Permission of instructor required. Completion of 60 credits with a minimum GPA of 3.0, including 15 credits of Sociology with a minimum grade of B in SOC 10000, SOC 38200, and SOC 38300.

Medical Humanities Certificate

Medical Humanities Certificate requires 18 credit hours. The Medical Humanities Certificate is based on an interdisciplinary approach to understanding the intersection of human experience, medical practice, and scientific technology. It also helps us understand how bioscience and health care take place within cultural and social contexts and how culture interacts with the individual experience of illness and the way medicine is practiced.

A certificate in Medical Humanities provides an edge for students interested in any aspect of the health care industry. Students already pursuing an undergraduate degree at Purdue can add the certificate to their program. You must meet with the program coordinator and submit a declaration of the certificate.

To fulfill the certificate requirements, a minimum GPA of 3.0 must be attained and an average of 3.0/B in all classes that are applied to the certificate. All courses must be taken for a letter grade.

Required Course
15 hours (5 courses) required with at least 6 hours from each the Social Science and Humanities Categories. Other electives may be considered with a medical humanities focus with the permission of the program director.
