How to determine whether an idea has the potential to receive

NSF FUNDING

Professor Ximena Arriaga

Department of Psychological Sciences

Dr. Ximena Arriaga is a Professor and Associate Department Head in Psychological Sciences. She was a Program Officer at the National Science Foundation (2020-2022) for the Social Psychology Program, in the Behavioral and Cognitive Sciences Division of the Social, Behavioral, and Economic Sciences Directorate (SBE/BCS). Since then, she has served as a consultant for several PIs preparing NSF proposals. This session will be a focused discussion on how to determine whether a research idea has potential for NSF funding. Her own research has been funded by the National Science Foundation and the National Institute of Mental Health, and she has served in numerous editorial positions and elected positions in professional organizations.
